Report Highlights:

On September 18, 2018, China's State Council Tariff Commission (SCTC) announced that it would start enforcing additional import tariffs on U.S. products exported to China valued at $60 billion ("the Supplemental Tariffs"). This round of Chinese tariffs was first announced on August 3 in response to the U.S. announcement of a proposed $200 billion in additional tariffs and was reported in GAIN Report CH18043. The proposed Supplemental Tariffs were originally divided into four schedules, each with a different tariff rate (25, 20, 10, and 5 percent). In the September 18 announcement, SCTC combined Schedules 1 and 2 and set the tariff rate at 10 percent for both; Schedules 3 and 4 were also combined at a tariff rate of 5 percent. There are a number of food, agricultural, and agricultural-related products across these schedules. The Supplemental Tariffs went into effect on September 24.

General information: This report contains an unofficial translation of the SCTC announcement published on the Ministry of Commerce website on September 18, 2018. In this report, Post also highlights the specific food and agricultural related tariff lines targeted by the Supplemental Tariffs are also included in this report. For the complete list of Supplemental Tariffs implemented by China on September 24 (including non-agricultural tariffs), please see the Ministry of Finance announcement here:

http://gss.mof.gov.cn/zhengwuxinxi/zhengcefabu/201808/t20180803_2980950.html. (Schedules 1 through 4 are listed at the bottom as .pdf documents.)

Comment: In terms of food and agriculture, the Supplemental Tariffs target products which have not been previously impacted by China's other announcements of additional tariffs, with the exception of eight HS codes identified by asterisks in the lists below. Each one of these eight tariff lines is also subject to 232 retaliatory duties of 15 percent.

Disclaimer: In the event of a discrepancy or discrepancies between this summary and the complete regulation or announcement as published in Mandarin, the latter shall prevail.
