Report Highlights:

Morocco's retail sector in 2026 is still dominated by small traditional grocers, but there is steady growth potential for modern retail trade formats, particularly in urban centers, as consumer lifestyles shift and demand for convenience, variety, and competitive pricing expands. In 2025, U.S. exports of retail-related products to Morocco reached $270 million. Morocco imports limited volumes of U.S. pre-packaged dairy products, beef, sauces, and spirits. A surge in U.S. tree nuts primarily almonds exports are leading growth in retail and food service sectors, and a growing middle class and tourist sector is increasingly interested in convenient and healthy products. The U.S.-Morocco Free Trade Agreement is the only American free trade agreement on the African continent.

Executive Summary

Morocco, a U.S. Free Trade Agreement partner, is a growing market for U.S. food and beverage products. While price-sensitive, the retail sector offers increasing opportunities for U.S. exports. In 2025, U.S. exports of retail-related products to Morocco reached $270 million. Morocco imports limited volumes of U.S. pre-packaged dairy products, beef, sauces, and spirits. A surge in U.S. tree nuts primarily almonds exports is leading growth in retail and food service sectors, and a growing middle class and tourist sector is increasingly interested in convenient and healthy products.

Imports of Consumer-Oriented Products (2021-2025 Average Imports)

In 2025, U.S. exports of consumer-oriented products to Morocco amounted to $303 million, representing a 24 percent increase from the previous year's total $243 million. The United States continues to encounter intense competition from the European Union.

Food Service Industry

The food service industry in Morocco is expected to grow, despite inflationary pressures. Morocco's food service industry is most developed in Casablanca (commercial center) and Marrakech (tourism).

Food Processing

Morocco's food processing industry represents 5 percent of Moroccan GDP and is comprised of 2,600 registered companies and 22 percent of industrial jobs in the country. Sales of processed foods generated about $19.1 billion in 2025 in Morocco. The U.S.- Morocco Free Trade Agreement provides tariff advantages for many U.S. food ingredient products.

SECTION 1. MARKET SUMMARY

According to the International Monetary Fund (IMF), Morocco's economy continued to recover in 2026, with real GDP growth estimated at 4.9 percent, supported by improved agricultural output, strong construction activity, infrastructure investments, and a resilient tourism sector. Inflation is expected to remain moderate and gradually converge toward 2 percent over the medium term, while strong domestic demand and tourism receipts continue to support economic activity in 2026. The Casablanca-Rabat corridor continues to account for nearly 50 percent of all modern retailers. Marjane Holding (Marjane and Marjane Market) and Label'Vie (Carrefour, Carrefour Market, and Atacadao) are Morocco's leading modern food retailers with other notables including Ynna Holdings (Aswak Salam) and the Turkish small format discounter BIM.

Recent Trends & Upcoming Events in Retail

- Major retail operators including Marjane, LabelVie, and BIM are expanding their footprint beyond the traditional Casablanca-Rabat corridor, extending into medium-sized cities and the southern provinces. This expansion reflects a broader shift in retail strategy, with operators increasingly favoring smaller-format stores located within residential areas. Marjane is growing its "Marjane City" concept, while LabelVie is accelerating the rollout of Supeco (its cash-and-carry supermarket chain) and Carrefour Market outlets. Discount chains such as BIM, Kazyon, and Supeco continue to gain market share, driven by the price sensitivity that remains a defining characteristic of Moroccan consumer behavior.
- Label'Vie SA (via Carrefour Market) and Marjane Holding SA together held 48 percent of retail value in 2025, with shares of 30 percent and 18 percent, respectively. Industry reports indicated that from 2020 to 2025, concentration eased slightly, Label'Vie peaked at 32 percent in 2024 before falling to 30 percent, while Marjane grew steadily from 13 percent to 18 percent.
- In the absence of official data, industry sources report that Marjane Holding remains Morocco's leading hypermarket operator in 2026, holding a 45 percent value share, followed by Label'Vie Group with 30 percent. Marjane continues to face competition from major players such as Label'Vie Group (operator of Carrefour) as well as discount chains like BIM.
- The Group Marjane introduced "Filière Exclusive M" to provide fresh, healthy, and high-quality food items while supporting local sourcing and short supply chains. These products can be found exclusively at Marjane Market, and on the Marjan online platform.
- Peak sales occur during Ramadan, which will take place on or about February 7 to March 8, 2027.

- The growth of internet and smartphone usage in Morocco has led to an increase in online shopping, offering retailers opportunities to expand their reach through e-commerce platforms.
- Food retail sector is a small but growing opportunity for U.S. exporters to take advantage of the U.S.-Morocco Free Trade Agreement (FTA).
- The 5th International Exhibition of Food & Drinks “SIAB EXPO MAROC” is scheduled to take place from September 22-24, 2026, in Casablanca. SIAB EXPO MOROCCO is an international trade fair for the food and drinks industry in Africa and Morocco.

Table 1: Moroccan Retail: Advantages and Challenges

Advantages	Challenges
Growing perception that supermarkets offer safer and affordable products.	Supply chain: (1) Retailers have leveraged past and present foreign investment into Moroccan retail by U.S. competitors (Europe, Turkey) and (2) U.S. multi-national food companies have regional production.
The supermarket sector continues growing.	Market size: 36.83 million Moroccans, 10-15 percent of which can afford to buy imported products.
Importers are frequently searching for new-to-market products as they must update their portfolio in order to compete.	Moroccan importers tend to buy small quantities to test the market. U.S. companies are usually not willing to sell small quantities.
Increased acceptance of packaged food.	Entry fees for new products.

Retail Sales by Channel

The Moroccan retail market in 2025 remains highly fragmented and dominated by traditional outlets. According to Euromonitor data, small local grocers account for nearly 68 percent of total food retail sales, making them the backbone of the distribution sector across the country. This reflects Moroccan consumers preference for proximity stores, familiarity, and daily small-basket shopping habits. Modern retail formats, while growing, still capture a smaller share. Hypermarkets at about 10 percent and supermarkets at 8 percent, both serve mainly urban middle class consumers.

Source: Euromonitor, 2025 data

Hypermarkets are typically not within walking distance of residential areas and feature parking for up to 1,000 cars. They stock over 17,000 SKU in food items which account for 40-50 percent of total sales. As a result, retailers aggressively promote their products.

- Marjane is especially aggressive in advertising.
- Atacadao positions itself between a hypermarket and a discounter, targeting lower-income consumers, professionals, and small retailers, including through offering bulk purchase discounts.
- Aswak Assalam has reduced its number of stores.

Supermarkets, Discounters, and Convenience Stores are in or within walking distance of medium to high-income neighborhoods and compete for urban consumers with traditional mom-and-pop shops and open-air markets. They are much smaller than hypermarkets but have a minimum of 20,000 ft², 3 to 6 registers, and feature limited parking space.

- ACIMA stocks at least 5,000 items
- Carrefour Market stocks around 10,000 products, including 4,000-5,000 food items. Carrefour carries specialty products like pork and alcohol.
- Discount food outlets such as BIM, which opened in 2009, have grown in popularity, followed by relative new-comer Costcutter. Label'Vie addresses the deep-discount market segment through its Atacadao stores – see above.
- Morocco has only independent convenience stores.

Gas-marts are 500 to 3,300 ft², typically feature one electronic register, and typically supply convenience foods. They are often located along highway rest stops connecting Morocco's major cities. Stores are usually expensive and carry some imported convenience items, like snack foods, beverages, and confectionary.

Traditional Markets - "Mom & Pop" Small Independent Grocery Stores

Imported products are not well positioned in this market segment. This category includes an estimated 45,000 grocery stores that are not in the above categories. Their size varies from less than 200 ft² to 1,000 ft². These shops have limited financial resources and are typically managed by one person. In cities, these stores may have a refrigerator. A very small number have ice cream freezers. Convenience, proximity, and consumer credit based on personal relationships with their customers are their strongest assets. Mom-and-pop stores are supplied via multiple distributors, wholesalers, and sometimes larger retailers.

SECTION 2. ROAD MAP FOR MARKET ENTRY

U.S. exporters should identify a Moroccan importer or distributor, with whom they can build a relationship. Local Moroccan companies are best suited to navigate local regulations, understand distribution chains, and have relationships with retailers, food processors, hotels, restaurants and institutions.

In addition to working with the central purchasing platforms of large, modern retailers for high volume and/or private label orders, new products can also be introduced through the handful of established importers that directly supply modern retailers. Exporters may be able to meet Moroccan food retailers and their importers at SIAL (Paris), ANUGA (Germany), ALIMENTARIA (Spain), or Gulfood (Dubai), Americas Food & Beverage Show (Miami). U.S. exporters are invited to contact AgRabat@fas.usda.gov to facilitate introductions.
